FELICITATION OF POLICE OFFICERS

The Police needs to better appreciate its role as the first responder in emergencies and consciously adopt disaster management including disaster risk reductions activities as one of its primary functions. Covid-19 created a range of unforeseen and unprecedented challenges for police across the world. The pandemic-induced lockdowns brought police personnel into direct contact with the people in need of urgent help and assistance, and to a large extent modified their primary role and nature of duties they used to perform in 'normal' times. In this event felicitation of some Police officers was a remarkable moment.

FELICITATION OF DOCTORS & NURSES

A tribute to frontline corona warriors the Doctors who sacrificed their life while saving patients during the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic. Doctors form an essential part of an effective response to the COVID-19 pandemic. We argue they have a duty to participate in pandemic response due to their special skills, but these skills vary between different doctors, and their duties are constrained by other competing rights. In this event total 31 doctors and nurses were felicitated for their contribution for the uplifting of the society.

Using the framework of disaster communication ecology, this study explores the discursive construction of journalism during the COVID-19 crisis.

The COVID-19 pandemic is harming health, social and economic well-being worldwide. First and foremost, women are leading the health response women make up almost 70% of the health care workforce, exposing them to a greater risk of infection.
