What is copyright ?

- Right to copy one's creative work.
- literary, dramatic, musical and artistic work, including illustration and photography
- non-literary written work, e.g. software, web content and databases
- sound and music recordings
- film and television recordings
- broadcasts through
- the layout of published editions of written, dramatic and musical works
- Objective – encouragement to original work

How the work should be ?

- 1) Originality—Copyright laws do not talk about novelty of thought or inventive thought or quality of the work. Copyright protection is available only to originality in the expression of the work
 Shakespeare work, Geetramayan
 Originality refers to 'fruits of intellectual labor' and implies at least some minimal degree of creativity judged by looking at the whole work- look and feel-substantial similarity
 Da Vinci code , Phone Booth vs Knock out, Yakshaganga
- 2) In fixed form – tangible

What is not protected ?

- There is no copyright in idea. Copyright protects presentation or expression of the idea.
- There is no Copyright in the judgments of the court
- There is no copyright in the facts or news or historical information or historical facts or events that have taken place.
- There is no copyright in title
- There is no copyright in the principle- scientific or otherwise.

There is no copyright in food recipes
 No protection to raw data like list of names, address or telephone number

Copyright Importance

- Creator-ensures that owners of the copyright get their due and others do not benefit at the cost of copyright owner
- Business- infringement proves costly
 Microsoft- had to withdraw PhotoWidget ; allowed users to upload photos.
- SAP has paid huge sums to Oracle, Google has been fined
- Revenue- copyright industries – Disney
- Infringement costly-
- Piracy- harms interests of all
